EAGLE MOUNTAIN IS A DIFFERENT CITY THAN IT WAS A YEAR AGO.

The opportunities and challenges that we now face are bigger and coming at a faster pace.

Later this month we will be releasing a "State of the City" recap of city accomplishments in 2018, with a look at what can be expected for 2019.

Opportunities that seemed unlikely a year ago are now reality. Other options that seemed relegated to sometime in the distant future are beginning to take form.

Over the past year we made adjustments in our code and personnel to have better construction oversight to reduce the impact on residents, and preserve more open space. There will be more adjustments to be made as we strive to make Eagle Mountain an even better place to live.

Mayor Westmoreland

From the city's incorporation in 1996, eighteen years went by before our first large retail business, Ridley's Market, came to town. With Facebook here, Eagle Mountain is in position to be home to one of the largest data technology campuses in the country. Facebook brings with it an infrastructure investment of $100 million. How long it would have taken the city to acquire that amount of funding for infrastructure on its own is anybody's guess. It's like we jumped ahead ten or twenty years.

For a long time City Center residents felt neglected, which created a sense of division in our city. Now, with businesses coming, City Center is about to earn its name.

The land where Cory Wride Memorial Park is located sat empty for years. This fun and eclectic regional park is a jewel in the city - contributing to further development of the Mid-Valley area that connects The Ranches and City Center.

When the Pony Express Blvd. East widening project was completed and traffic lights added, it relieved quite a bit of congestion, allowing traffic to empty out much faster. That was just the beginning of meeting our road expansion needs. Road expansion projects and their construction timelines will be an important subject for this year, especially with Cedar Valley High School opening.

We look forward to Cedar Valley High School opening this fall and plan to partner with the school for a grand opening event in August.

Eagle Mountain is coming of age and will be ready to take its place of leadership among Utah cities as we create a balanced and unique city of the future. It will be a healthy and vibrant city of which we can all be proud and enjoy creating positive memories for years to come.

MAYOR'S BOOK RECOMMENDATIONS

"How to Win Friends and Influence People" by Dale Carnegie. First published in 1936, it became one of the best-selling books of all time.

"Leaders Eat Last: Why Some Teams Pull Together and Others Don't" by Simon Sinek. I think this one is appropriate for Eagle Mountain because, as far as I am concerned, Eagle Mountain is for leaders.

For an inspiring family read, "Johnathan Livingston Seagull" by Richard Bach. This book became popular in the early 1970s and is worth being rediscovered by a new generation.

Jr. Jazz

Parents who have registered children for Jr. Jazz should have been contacted by a coach at this point and received a game and practice schedule. If you have not been contacted, please email jhall@emcity.org.

New General Plan

Eagle Mountain City adopted a new comprehensive General Plan in July. The term "general plan" describes a general, comprehensive, long-range statement of goals and related policies to guide future growth and development of a city. The General Plan and related maps are available on our website.

2019 City Offices Schedule

A City offices holiday closure schedule for 2019 is available in the Contact Us section of the City website.

Garbage Collection

Ace Disposal observes four holidays that affect trash pickup in Eagle Mountain - New Year's Day, Independence Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas. If your normal trash collection day occurs on the day of or days following one of these holidays, pickup will be delayed by one day. Please contact Ace Disposal at 800-724-9995 with any garbage collection issues.

WHY PREPARE FOR DISASTER?

Disaster can strike without warning, forcing you to evacuate your home or go for days without basic necessities.

Relief workers will be on scene following a disaster, but may not be able to reach you immediately. You need to be prepared. Knowing the steps to take during a disaster- whether flooding, tornadoes, earthquakes or another crisis-can greatly reduce the danger and distress your family may face.

Tip of the Month: Creating a Basic Emergency Plan

Having a plan is one of the most important steps you can take in disaster preparedness. Knowing what to do and how to do it can help your family manage disasters with less worry, fear and uncertainty.

- Decide what you and your family would do in each potential emergency situation.
- Draw a floor plan of your home showing escape routes.
- Choose a place away from your neighborhood where family members can meet in case you are separated and cannot return home.

- Identify a friend or relative who lives out of the area for family members to contact if you are separated.
- Post emergency numbers by every phone and teach children how and when to dial 911.
- Know how to shut off water, gas and electricity at the main switches in your home.
- Plan how to help elderly or disabled neighbors in a disaster.
- Check that your insurance policies are up to date and provide good coverage.

The City offers Community Emergency Response Training (CERT) in October and has monthly preparedness training on the second Thursday of every month at 7:00 p.m. at City Hall.
